A MUSICAL SOIREE.

A portion of the citizens of Anderson enjoyed a delightful evening at the residence of Prof. W. J. Ligon on Thursday last, in attendance upon a charming musical Soiree, given by Mrs. Pinkind, the accomplished and excellent instructress of music in the Carolina Collegiate Institute, for the purpose of exhibiting to the patrons of the school the progress made by her pupils in their study of music. The programme for the evening was extensive and varied, embracing instrumental and vocal music, duets, violin accompaniment, &c., which was credtable alike to the teacher and her scholars. The performance frequently elicited applause from the audience present, which was composed of about seventy-five ladies and gentlemen. At the conclusion of the music from scholars, Mrs. and Miss Pinkind. by request, charmed those present by their beautiful rendition of several fine pieces. after which refreshments were partaken of, and the guests departed with a sense of pleasure derived from a musical feast, for which they were indebted to Prof. Ligon and Mrs. Pinkind.

HOPEWELL

For two weeks rain has been excessive, accompanied with high wind, prostrating trees and fences. The cotton planting season is here, but not a seed is in the ground. ... Most farmers are economizing their time by preparing summer wood and doing milling for the future ..... S. is one of those who was laying up meal for a dry day, and on crossing a swollen stream on his way to mill, the strong current swept his grist away, but not without shricks, surges and sighs on the part of the owner. He did his whole duly to prevent it at the time, and since, for three days, in sounding the despicable stream. "They that have must lose," and he is reconciled ..... It is a strange thing that a man can be warmed and fed by the merchant; instructed and amused by the editor; the tender minds of his offspring "taught how to shoot" by the teacher; his life pro longed and saved by the doctor; his soul made to rejoice by glad tidings from the prescher, and, when the bills are presented for the same, express his deep regret of utter inability to pay, but can fork over the cash for contraband whiskey ..... The following omeers of Hopewell Division, No. 95, were installed, on the 7th inst., to serve the present quarter : A. M. Guyton, W. P.; W. B. Erskine, W. A.: A. B. Carpenter, R. S.; Miss Emma Stringer, A. R. S.: L. D. Siringer, F. S.; W. A. Neal, T.; T. W. Webb, Chap.; R. P. Jamison, C.; Miss Pal-lie Erskine, A. C.; B. C. Acker, I. S.; J. R. Gnyton, O. S.; J. M. Hamlin, P. W. P ..... We are pleased to note that Messrs. Crews and McGukin have just completed a corn mill. These gentlemen have utilised the water of a small branch, which propels this mill and a gin with facility. We bespeak for them a remunerative custom. In addition to this Mr. Crows has located a black-of cultivation. He makes cotton and wheat specialities, and is probably the only farmer we have who raises rutabagas for stock..... The Democratic Club excommunicated say eral of her members upon the charge of empleyir, Radical hands. What are they? Not Democrats? They spurn Radicalism. Hampton will right all wrongs. brotherly love abound. HOMO.

HONEA PATH. The gale on Friday last blew down foncing and trees generally. Orchards suffered greatly, and in some cases were almost entirely destroyed ..... The depot got tired leaning on the props on the east side, left them, and is now trying to stand alone. The Agent, being scared or demoralized, gathered up what he terms his office, and set sail for a safer port.....Some damage to houses and chimneys reported, though none serious......Corn planted before the heavy rains is reported not doing well, and fears are entertained of damage to guano, the extent of which cannot be determined till later in the season.....A defective chimney came near causing another fire last week, at the store of M. I. Brock ..... The Honea Path Bible Society held its monthly meeting at Little River Church on Sunday last. This Church is under the pastoral care of Rev. R. W. Burts, and is in a very promising condition. Almost the entire congregation is connected with the Sabbath School.

SANDY SPRINGS.

The countenances of our farmers began to lighten up as they zaw old "Sol," with his warm and genial rays, making his appearance from behind those dark and threatening clouds which had emptied themselves upon their farms. They are again hopeful of good seasons and an abundant harvest.
.....Pendleton Factory, we understand, is to be sold shortly. Our people are very desirous that it should bring a sufficient amount to cover all debts. They now need their investments. The Factory is a valuable piece of property and conveniently lo-cated. It has been lying idle for some time, but we hope ere long to see it running again, and under the supervision of industrious and enterprising men ..... We had the pleasure, as well as honor, of listening to an earnest and edifying sermon delivered by the Pastor at Sandy Springs on last Sabbath. Quite a large congregation was in attendance, among the number was a couple who

WILLIAMSTON, S. C., April 16, 1877. Messrs. Editors: The cause of temperance is rapidly gaining ground in and around Williamston. A division was started at this place during the summer of 1876 with fifteen chartered members. Since that time there has been scarcely a meeting without one or more accessions. The division now num-bers about one hundred members. It is encouraging indeed to see what a change has come over our little village for the last few months. There are quite a number of young ladies who have joined in with us to battle against the all pervading destroyer, alcohol, besides some very old men. All seem to be joined hand in hand in the glorious cause, and agree that no whiskey must be used during the rign of our beloved Hampton. At a regular meeting of this division, on Saturday evening, 7th inst., the following officers were elected to serve the

The installation took place on last Saturday at the Presbyterian Church, which was well filled with spectators. After the installation was over, Bro. H. I, Epting, D. G. W. P., made a very able address, cautioning the people against the use of spirituous liquors and showing what terrible results would follow its use upon the human system. Bro. S. Lander was then introduced, who closed with some very appropriate remarks. After the speaking was over the procession formed and marched to the hall. I almost forgot to mention that some of the young ladies of our division made and premied to the division, on the day of the in stallation, three beautiful banners, red, white and blue. May the temperance flag in triumph wave, o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave, is the prayer of

LETTER FROM NEW YORK. Prom an Occasional Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 16, 1877. In beginning my letter to-day, I men-tion cooking as an art, and give you what little news I have gathered from the kitchen during my visit to the "cooking school." A "cooking school" is a novel establishment, even for New York, and but few persons really know how to enjoy the teachings of such a school until they get on the beuch in the kitchen. Miss Carson, the Principal of this school, and "chief cook and bottlewasher," is the name of the energetic young maid who has undertaken to teach girls, domes. tically inclined, how to cater for their husbands, and especially r to cook. The science of cooking the tree dates back to the year 1, but now Mrs. Adam cooked we are not informed. At any rate she did not have the same kind of cooking utensils used at the present day.

This school is located at No. 8, St. Mark's Place, and is denominated the New York Cooking School. It has been uccessful, and at the matinees you meet an audience worth beholding. The system of this school, differing from others, is a simple one, and twelve consecutive lessons constitute an entire course, no uniforms or extras. In the first lesson you study the manufacture of soups, namely: pea soup, verminelli, spinach, &c., &c. The second you advance to "fishy dishes," broiled, baked and fried. The third you take up meats. The fourth constitutes a therough digest of large meat dishes, canton of lamb, stuffed breast of veal (but stuffed breasts are common,) and ham. The fifth gives you a delicate idea of poultry and game, broiled, boiled, roasted, and even fricassee dishes. The sixth gives you a thorough digestion of all the vegetables. The seventh brings you to macaroni. The eighth treats upon eggs, and how many one should eat. The ninth teaches all about bread and biscuits. The tenth is a sweet lesson, of course—on cakes and pies. The eleventh lesson is vary thin and sickly, cookery for the sick being its principal teachings, and the twelfth lesson treats upon the various dishes for the small fry, and particularly infants, and more particularly boisterous infants.

The terms of this celebrated school are tem of this school, differing from others,

THE WONDERFUL TELEPHONE.

In one of my previous letters, I alluded to the telephone concert, which was to take place at the Academy of Music, and as it has taken place and was a grand success, I must give you the interesting programme of music, which was received by telegraph from Philadelphia, I cannot compliment the entertainment at Steinway Hall, on the 2nd inst., as the heavy rain fall prevented the perfect transmission of the music. However, as the first melody was received the enthusiasm of the scientific audience was immense. Besides the telephone amusement, Mr. Strakasch had provided for an extra concert, and it was more appreciated than the former. A short lecture was delivered by Professer Gray, and the following programme from Philadelphia was received: "Hom "Sweet Home;" "Come Gentil;" "Then you'll Remember Me;" "Last Rose of Summer;" "M. Appaxie;" "The Carnival of Venice." In a few seconds after the programme was mentioned, "Home, Sweet Home" was distinctly heard all over the house; after which the audience went into a perfect state of enthusiasm. Some of the high notes were inaudible, but ware excused, however, as the telephone was thought to "have a cold" The house was full, and the utile good humor prevailed.

In Brooklyn, last night, the telephone concert was a complete success, every air THE WONDERFUL TELEPHONE.

In Brooklyn, last night, the telephone concert was a complete success, every air being distinctly heard. "O, Summer right" and "Yankee Doodle" were wonderful illustrations of what the telephone can do, and the audience sent up round after round of applause, thereby showing their high appreciation of this scientific apparatus, which, like Franklin's kite and Morse's great discovery, is destined to become an instrument of the greatest utility. Philadelphia is 90 miles or more from New York, and to be able to listen to music, perfect music, in Brooklyn, transmitted from Philadelphia instantaneously and at the will of man, is too great for contemplation, and deserves to In Brooklyn, last night, the telephone grat for contemplation, and deserves to be considered a wonderful fact.

Mr. Strakasch will take the apparatus to England, we understand, and play, on her Majesty's birthday, 24th of May, "Lad Save the Queen." It will be played in Liverpool and will be audible in Buckingham Palace. EIGHT TO SEVEN.

— General Fitz Lee says he was three years at West Point with Gov. Nicholls. He says Nicholls "was popular, strong-willed, amiable and audacions. If Packard and his friends think they can 'bull doze' General Nicholls out of the rights conferred upon him by a majority of some ten thousand votes, they will lose time, and if they shoot, life." time, and, if they shoot, life.

The colored Republicans of Charleston contemplate holding a grand mass meeting, for the purpose of publicly and formally withdrawing their opposition to Governor Hampton, and pledging him their aid in the establishment of peace and order. This is as it should be. It speaks much for the good sense and regard for justice and right of our colored citizens.

Attorneys can be supplied with sun Atomeys can be supplied with summons, judgments, executions and other law blanks at Charleston prices at the Errantenegas office. These and other blanks will be kept on hand at this office, and we respectfully solicit orders, as we are confident parties using our blanks will find them equal to any that can be gotten.

Mr. Diogenes.

This singular man lived in Greece. He was distinguished for his eccentricities, bad manners, and bad disposition. It was his chief business to find fault. For example, he took a lantern one day when the sun was shining brightly and went out to search for an honest man, thereby insinuating that such persons were exceedingly scarce. When Alexander, a distinguished military gentleman, paid him a visit, and inquired what he could do for him, he had the imp. "ee to tell him to "get out of his sunshine. To cap the climax of his oddities, he dressed like a beggar and lived in a tub! He was a sour, crabbed, crusty old bachelor. We infer that he had no wife, first, because history does not mention her; second, because no woman would take kindly to one of his habits, dress, or manners, or aspire to become mistress of his mansion. "There was an old woman who lived in a thoe," It is true, but the woman who would live in a tub, and especially with such a companion, has not been heard from. The misantbropic spirit which possessed this man was doubtless due to disordered digesticn and a biliousness, one of the prominent symptoms of which is a morose, fault-finding disposition. The tongue is heavily coated, giving rise to a bad taste, the appetite is not good, the patient feels dul'. sleepy, or dizzy, and is apt to be fretful. Unfortunately, Mr. Diogenes lived several centuries before Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets were invented, a few doses of which would have relieved him of his "bile," and enabled him to find scores of "honest men" without the aid of his lantern. Under their magic influence, combined with that of the Goiden Medical Discovery, to cleanse his blood, he might have been led to take a more cheerful view of life, to exchange his tub for a decent habitation, to "spruce up" in personal appearance, and at last have taken a wife to mend his clothes and his manners, both of which were in evident need of repairs, and become the happy sire of little Diogeneses who would have handed down to poster Mr. Diogenes.

OBITUARY.

DIED, at her home near Honea Path, on the night of the 5th inst., Mrs. MARY E. KAY, leaving a husband and five little children, together with father, mother, brothers, alsiers, and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss. Yei they sorrow not as those without hope. She made a profession of religion several years ago, and united herself with the Barker's Creek Baptist Church, which profession she ever adorned by a godly and plous life. On the morning of the 6th, her remains were carried to her Church, where a large congregation of neighbors and friends awaited. After services, which were conducted by Eider R. W. Burts, her remains were interred in the Church Cemetery, there to await the summons on the resurrection morn. Sister, thou wast dear to us, but the Master called and thou hast gone.
